If I had any money/steady income stream, this app would be worth $49.99 or whatever the most expensive automation apps cost! For years I would visit your site every now and then and just go through and click on every project just to see what cool stuff you've been doing. I'm pretty sure I still run some scripts that you wrote from back in like 2014, haha. Anyways, Bunch is still the best thing ever and I'm making a big push to go through all of the documentation to learn the more in-depth features. It was exactly the kind of app I have always wanted (messed around with Controlplane for a while, and then an app called Workspaces, but Bunch nails it and has an awesome level of depth to it that outstrips my "script kiddie"-level computer skills lol). Have a good one and some day I'll getcha at least 9.99 for this beast.
